Man Tells Of 8 Days In Bushland

Exclusive Story
Is Given Bulletin
By Alexo Miner

(How does it feel to be lost in mountainous wilds for eight days? Bulletin Staff Reporter, Stanley Burke flew to Alaska, Alaska, today to get the exclusive story of John Tupek, a miner, who was lost eight days—Editor.)

By JOHN TUPEK
As Told to the Bulletin

That devil bush was just too big and thick for me. For a while, I thought I was never going to get out. I wasn't afraid, though, and I'm going to make more trips because I love that bush. It's just like the country I come from in Czechoslovakia.

I got lost when I went fishing on Saturday, that would be a week ago Saturday, with Walter Bros and Peter Wasmuth. We went out to Lawrence Creek, about five miles from here. We all went to different parts of the river. About five in the afternoon I thought I would go home.

I thought I was heading in the right direction but I walked and walked and walked. The sun went down and it got dark. When I could no longer see I lay down under a tree and waited. After a while I went to sleep. There were lots of mosquitoes from the tree and it was pretty comfortable.

GETS VERY COLD

When it got light I woke and I started to walk again. After a couple of hours I came to a cabin—I guess it was a ranger cabin. There was no one in the cabin and it was open. I took out a telephone. I tried to use the phone and I rang all the numbers there were written on it and by the phone. It was no use.

After that I left the cabin and I walked back the way I came. The trail ended at the cabin so I couldn't keep on. I walked for about an hour on the trail and I was going through the woods. After a while I came on three men with some pack horses.

I said "Hello, there. I don't know where I am," and they told me how they got to the cabin to spend the night. I got to it all right and I ate a bush chicken. I didn't know it wasn't for me. I said "I don't know where I am," and they told me how they got to the cabin to spend the night. I got to it all right and I ate a bush chicken. I didn't know it wasn't for me.

The next day I tried to follow the trail but the men had gone and I didn't know where to go. I went on for about an hour and I was going through the woods. After a while I came on three men with some pack horses.

Hold Formosa Or War Certain—MacArthur

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—(CP)—The United Nations "may have peace" by holding a Pacific island defense line, including Formosa, but "lose it and war is inevitable."

This is the viewpoint expressed by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, commander-in-chief of UN forces fighting in Korea, in a statement which was to have been read at a convention here today. Yesterday the general withdrew the statement, apparently at the request of President Truman.

MacArthur said that from a "natural" defense line of islands in the Pacific, we can dominate with power every Asian port from Vladivostok to Singapore.

Groups Here Send Protests

New tension was evident in Edmonton and other Alberta centers today as the nation began the second week of the throttling railway strike.

The transportation tie-up choked additional Alberta industries, resulted in the closing of lumber mills at Grande Prairie and the killing of a road construction gang at Vegreville, and brought lay-offs previously close to other workers.

Edmonton's 1,800 picketers who had been cheerfully jobless this morning, went to their lines this morning with a new grimace.

With outspoken bitterness, they blamed the companies' representatives for failure of the weekend conference in Ottawa between railway heads and the union negotiating committees.

SEND RESOLUTIONS
In an atmosphere of gloom here yesterday, they drafted strongly worded resolutions against a possible federal government move Tuesday to force them back to their jobs.

One Alberta branch of the Canadian Legion and a Legion spokesman in Edmonton also went on record as being strongly opposed to "any law outlawing strikes."

The Legion endorsed the plan that the international central strike committee here endorsed a letter from the Edison Branch of the electricians' organization to W. W. Watson, general manager of the company.

CURTAINS RIGHTS
The Edison protest said "while the strike in question has nothing to do with our organization the curtailment of the democratic rights of the people of Canada is."

Swim Titles

TOBACCO, Aug. 28.—(AP)—It was a struggle, but prices kept rising in the stock market today. The bulk upward was not unusual by any means, with losses going to as much as 81 and gains all the way up to nearly 82 a share.

As an indication of the lack of enthusiasm by traders, the volume was at the rate of 1,300,000 shares for the entire day as compared with 1,600,000 shares Friday.

IT HAPPENED TODAY

Sheriff Angered
By Mean Prisoner

People

Harvey Carville, 30, jailed for assault can't be trusted, even in a cell, Sheriff Thomas A. McDowell complained at Edmonton, July 15. McDowell said Carville, a family man with three children, put a mattress in a bathtub and turned on the water. "When we got home, the water was 15 inches deep in my quarters down stairs," the sheriff said. "It sure was a mean trick to pull."

Two rings worth $11,000 were lost by Mrs. Del Webb, wife of the owner of the New York Yankees, during a visit to St. Louis, police reported. The exed authorities to search for an $11,000 emerald and diamond ring and another ring worth $500. Mrs. Webb said she believed the rings had been left at the hotel where she and Webb stayed Saturday.

Larry Low, 10, won a prize in the pet show at McNicoll's, Dryden, Ill., winning in the "biggest" class, was his four-year-old brother, Johnny, Junior. Johnny, 10, proved his request to enter his mother's pet because he had none of his own. And, he said, he showed up Friday with Johnny in tow. "That's what she called him—pet."

Charles Raines of London, Eng., was saving good news for his girl friend in front of her house, when a police siren screamed and a man came running through the street. Raines tackled him. He was fined 10 shillings ($15) for obstructing traffic. He had "captured" a plain-clothes man.

At Home
Three Baptist Evangelists were arrested during the week-end in Val D'or, Que., on charges of obstructing traffic when they attempted to hold a public meeting. Arrested and taken to jail at 11:30 a.m. were Marguerite McCredie, a teacher in the French Protestant school, Lorette, Que., and Ernie A. McWilliams of Val D'or.

Neither the hot sultry weather nor the railroad strike proved any deterrent to the crowds jamming the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto during the weekend. Total attendance for the first two days of the fair was 374,500, an increase of 7,500 over the same period last year.

World
A former Hungarian government official said at Leno, Mass., that Russia has trained "little girls" to lead machine guns and terrify them to fight.

Following the break-out of negotiations Saturday, Frank H. Hall, union negotiator leader, and the negotiators representing 125,000 strikers had neither received new overtures from the railways nor made any since Saturday night.

From all indications today the prospects were that the trains could not get rolling again before Thursday at the earliest.

The New York Times and Sun, one of the largest afternoon dailies in the United States, rolled off its presses for the first time in 11 weeks. Newspaper was shut down last June 13 by an American Newspaper Guild (CIO) strike, settled last Wednesday with the signing of a new two-year contract.

Railmen Work If Gov't Orders

Canada almost certainly faced three more days of the strike.

"Intervening by parliament now is inevitable," a high government official said yesterday after Prime Minister St. Laurent had received a personal report from union leaders on the collapse of new final negotiations with the companies Saturday night.

This informant said the government would not interfere further in the strike before placing its policy arbitration of the remaining points of issue. The unions are opposed to this type of settlement, and that does not appear in the Dominion's normal labor legislation.

The major issue, Mr. Hall said after Saturday night's collapse of the negotiations, is the amount and the effective date of wage increases. The question stands "100 per cent" behind the 17 unions involved in the strike.

RAP GORDON
The statement, issued by Percy Benough, T.C.P. president, and Pat Gordon, secretary-treasurer of the C.C.L., said that Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National Railways, had been acting as chief spokesman for the Canadian Pacific Railways. "The largest privately-owned corporation in the country."

In doing so, Mr. Gordon now was "determined for the sake of his own ambition and in the interest of the C.P.R. to use the parliament of Canada against Canadian workers and their families."

The two labor organizations said they are calling on all their members to support the railway unions "because of the extreme seriousness of the situation, and because we believe that labor, which constitutes a large section of the population of Canada, will be if it allied as Canadians by the outcome of the dispute."

PLEDGE SUPPORT
The 90,000-member Canadian Canadian Union of Railway Workers, in a resolution Saturday, also pledged full support to the 124,000 railway workers. The resolution, signed by President Gerard Picard, said the railway workers were responsible for the delay in negotiations with their employees.

Miscellany
At Chicago July 24, a customer hit the jackpot on an Indianapolis machine. Police said a plucky woman over the machine reported, "They put 35 cents in the machine and I won $100,000. I don't know how to cash it in. I can't sleep in the big long coming out."

Radio car found some 20 percent of its littering the street. Identified customer paid left with the car. Company official said the machine was off the street.

Ben Gold, president of the International Fur and Leather Workers' Union (CIO), has resigned to comply with the federal Taft-Hartley law, the Daily Worker said at New York. Clamp On National Strikes UnlikelyIt Won't Be Imposed, Say
Spokesmen of Rail Strikers

OTTAWA, Aug. 28.—(CP)—Leaders of the 124,000 workers engaged in the general rail strike say they are confident that Parliament will pass legislation outlawing this type of stoppage.

Frank H. Hall, international union chief, said Saturday night there is "not the slightest chance" of such legislation. That was by A. B. Mosher, spokesman for the Canadian Union of Railway Workers.

They were asked about reports that the government at this week's emergency session of parliament might bring in legislation to ban lockouts of public services such as the railroads.

The workers would deeply resent the idea, Mr. Hall said. "There is not the slightest chance of this government going that far," he said. "That would be contrary to the traditions and institutions of this government."

The two strike leaders were interviewed shortly after the latest series of negotiations with the railways broke down. Mr. Hall, who heads 90,000 International Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, is president of the 200,000-member Canadian Union of Railway Workers for 31,000 of the strikers, as well as Mr. Hall said.

LEGISLATION NECESSARY
Asked how the unions felt about the likelihood of the strike being brought through into Parliament's law, Mr. Hall replied:

"We are in the position of having to take a chance on the railways rather than make a settlement that we feel is unjust and unfair."

In the event of legislation disallowing the unions being passed, a reporter asked, what would they do?

"We always obey the law," Mr. Hall said.

But he said the unions would be "very much against" compulsory arbitration of remaining differences between them and the railways, should this be proposed by the government.

Mr. Hall said he supposed that the negotiations now were back at the original starting point—that is, with the unions asking the full demands they laid down in the summer of 1949.

ON LATEST OFFER
"But," he added, "I see a serious thing to have the economy of the country disrupted. We want our people to work, and they want to work, but there's a point beyond which we cannot go. If there is a chance to settle, we'll settle on our own terms."

"That's right," agreed Mr. Mosher.

The "last stated position" was the offer which the unions made to the companies Saturday afternoon and which was not accepted by the companies.

Neither Mr. Hall nor Mr. Mosher was able to estimate how far apart in dollars and cents the disagreements are at the time the talks collapsed.

Mr. Hall dictated to reporters a statement to the effect that the unions proposed a two-year contract with a five-cent hourly increase, retroactive to Jan. 1, and with a clause tying the increase to fluctuations in the cost-of-living index.

The increase proposals by the union and by the railways would be ever and above the increase involved in providing a 40-hour week with the same take-home pay as for 48-hour week.

here was framed by Ledgers 793, 841, and 1075 of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, members of the running trades who are separated from their jobs by picket lines of striking rail men.

The trainmen's resolution yesterday left no doubt as to sentiment.

It laid the blame for the strike squarely on the present government.

GORDON SPOKE
But it also asked what it called the "take it or leave it" or you will see the day you regret it" attitude of the railway management.

The feeling here echoed statements from Ottawa, where leaders of striking unions charged Donald Gordon, C.N.R. president, left the conference table with little credit Saturday.

The trainmen's statement asked that immediate steps be taken to bring about settlement of the national tie-up. "To prevent needless suffering."

The next cause of the resulting tie-up, the resolution stated, was the "take it or leave it" attitude of the railway management.

The protest was ratified later in the day by a meeting of Division 43 (C.N.R.) and Division 7 (C.P.R.) of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, and endorsed by Local 80 (Macdonald Hotel) and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Strikers at Edson, Alta., forwarded a similar resolution to the union, laying off 60 men.

At direct cross-purposes to the strikers' protest is the resolution drafted and unanimously endorsed by Red River district farmers.

MORE RESOLUTIONS
Their protest, forwarded to the prime minister, asks the government to enact legislation outlawing strikes against the railway and to conscript labor if necessary to continue operations.

The granting of "unreasonable" wage demands only enlarges a vicious circle resulting in higher rates and increased cost of living.

Strikes of a strike of this type should be "considered a crime against the state. If it can be shown that such a strike would have disastrous effects on the nation or some considerable portion thereof, the law should be enacted."

Their recommended settlement of wage disputes in transportation and commerce by a conciliatory board whose findings would be final and subject only to change as cost of living may change.

The group authorized state power to conscript qualified labor where a tie-up of vital utilities is involved.

Meanwhile, the strike made new arrests into Alberta's "new" Grande Prairie Lumber Company closed its planting mill Saturday, laying off 60 men.

At direct cross-purposes to the strikers' protest is the resolution drafted and unanimously endorsed by Red River district farmers.

Their protest, forwarded to the prime minister, asks the government to enact legislation outlawing strikes against the railway and to conscript labor if necessary to continue operations.

The granting of "unreasonable" wage demands only enlarges a vicious circle resulting in higher rates and increased cost of living.

Strikes of a strike of this type should be "considered a crime against the state. If it can be shown that such a strike would have disastrous effects on the nation or some considerable portion thereof, the law should be enacted."

Their recommended settlement of wage disputes in transportation and commerce by a conciliatory board whose findings would be final and subject only to change as cost of living may change.

The group authorized state power to conscript qualified labor where a tie-up of vital utilities is involved.

Meanwhile, the strike made new arrests into Alberta's "new" Grande Prairie Lumber Company closed its planting mill Saturday, laying off 60 men.

Sources of the Strike

One of the striking unions in Edmonton has protested to Prime Minister St. Laurent against the possible enactment of any harsh anti-labor legislation by the special session of parliament which opens tomorrow.

With that protest the majority of the people of Canada will be in accord.

There is a general feeling, of course, that workers who perform such a vital function as maintaining transportation facilities throughout the country should not paralyze Canada's economy by a walk-out, particularly at a time of international crisis.

There is a feeling that transportation workers, like policemen, should not jeopardize national security by strike action.

There must be a good deal of sympathy for that viewpoint. It is not right that workers in other classes should be thrown out of employment and that the food stocks of Canadian communities should be threatened by the actions of any one class in the country.

But in respect of this view, there are two points to be remembered:

1. That it is impossible to rob any class of workers of all legitimate forms of protest.

2. That the only effective way to prevent such economic disturbances as have afflicted Canada during the past week is not drastic restrictive legislation but legislation designed to remove the fundamental sources of labor unrest.

Thus while the settlement of this strike and the prevention of future strikes are of paramount importance, the really vital matter before parliament tomorrow is to institute some check on the intolerably high cost of living which is imposing a tremendous economic burden upon every family in Canada.

Musical Manners Somewhat Lacking

With Edmonton's musical appreciation at such a high pitch, brushing-up on audiences' musical manners appears long overdue.

Lee Hopper, the Pops orchestra, and the Recreation Commission deserve high praise for having developed the kind of fare which brings overflow audiences back for more and more.

And it is highly commendable that a further concert should be so enthusiastically endorsed by the capacity audience Thursday—particularly since proceeds will go toward a scholarship for Mr. Hopper to spend next winter studying at some eastern musical centre.

But surely an ignorant and unappreciative minority should not be allowed to continue spoiling every public musical function that comes along.

It appears that most Edmonton audiences think they are at a hockey game, where late arrivals and noisy conversations don't greatly matter.

At every musical concert there are a few late-comers who noisily parade down the aisle and interrupt others' enjoyment by taking their seats while a number is being played or sung.

Most of the difficulty arises from the fact that this city is not a proper auditorium. Hence there is no trained corps of ushers who know their business and help eliminate such interruptions by closing entrances immediately before the program starts.

In any properly-run auditorium or concert hall, it is impossible for thoughtless persons to interrupt by gaining admittance while any number is being played.

But much could be done by concert managers to prepare Edmontonians for the day when we do get a suitably run auditorium.

They could—and it is to be hoped the Recreation Commission will for the next Pops concert—recruit some capable ushers and tell them the essentials of good concert manners.

Thus the average patron's enjoyment would be immeasurably increased.

Canadian Cities and Defence

The contention made before the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, meeting in Saskatoon, that the cities of this country should be included in the national organization set up to deal with civil defence will find much support throughout Canada.

There are at least four strong arguments for such municipal participation:

1. That the cities should be consulted and be in on the discussions from the start because the responsibility for civil defence will ultimately rest upon municipal authorities.

2. That there will be a greater uniformity in civil defence across Canada if representatives of the city are made aware of step-by-step developments in civil defence plans as they occur.

3. That if war should suddenly break out, much time will be saved if competent men in each community were fully acquainted with civil defence plans without having to await instruction from federal officials.

4. That representatives from Canadian cities on the civil defence board, or whatever it may be called, will be able to bring to the conference full knowledge of local conditions in each community which otherwise would be available only after long-drawn-out investigations.

Obviously, civil defence planning will be incomplete without participation by Canadian cities.

Tired Drivers, Dangerous Drivers

Police court officials have protested against the practice of taxi companies compelling their drivers to work such long hours that their weariness imperils the safety of their driving.

This is the second time in a few months that the matter of tired drivers has been the subject of comment.

The other occasion was when a truck driver became involved in an accident after he had been driving so long that his faculties were temporarily impaired.

The truth is that a tired driver is a dangerous driver.

And this applies alike to private car drivers and professional drivers.

In the case of private drivers, weariness should be no excuse for accidents because there is nothing to prevent a private driver from stopping his car until he is exhausted.

In the case of driver employees, some policy should be framed under which employers would be compelled to limit long hours render the driving of employees unsafe.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

Here's the Truth At Last About Pistol Marksmanship

Because I sometimes tend around more than two dollars, and because my house has demonstrated a tendency to get damaged, I have a license to carry a revolver—and sometimes do. But I certainly hope I never get into a spot where I would have to use it, because I don't want to hit the back wall of a brew-house if I were 20 feet away.

And to tell you the truth, I don't practice because I haven't practiced.

Naturally, I wanted to include an exhibition of pistol shooting, and as a charter member of the Zane Grey Club I figured that since any one of my bronco butters could pop a city pipe out of a girl's mouth at 30 feet.

Coney Kid Takes Over

Well, I figured wrong. There was in one in the cat who could hit the pipe without taking the mouth with it, and I figured having to import the national champion—a skinny kid from Brooklyn—would be a real marksmanship in a Coney Island shooting gallery.

I happened with what Dan Ryan used to call "the champion" is even more common among gangsters than the holding of the '20s pulled many a claim, but most invariably the victim was in a motor car, and the range a couple of inches from the range of his neck.

Whenever the corpse-figure to be more than a few feet away, the killer used sawed-off shotguns, or even machine guns, or tommy guns which produced a spray of lead a mile long.

Only One Out Of Ten Hit

As the guest of honor was bowing, the 200 hoodlums reacted for their heads and let him have it. But when Capone—always the good bookkeeper—counted the bullet holes, he found only two in the car and 180 of the triggerman had missed.

Years ago, I used to haunt the 42nd Street shooting galleries, and got so handy with a .22 rifle that I could knock the dancing soloist half off the stream of the water five times out of ten. And was plenty cozy about the Dan Ryan used to call "the champion" is even more common among gangsters than the holding of the '20s pulled many a claim, but most invariably the victim was in a motor car, and the range a couple of inches from the range of his neck.

A few years back, an ex-brother-in-law, who was a very good shot, told me a story about Al Capone which illustrates my point. It went like this: Capone was playing pool with a rival gang, and he hired him, and after the feed made some complimentary remarks about the food-service, and asked him to get up on the table and take a bow.

Fixing Ticket

Editor, Bulletin—Recently while riding with an acquaintance in his automobile the driver was given a traffic ticket. After the officer left the driver boasted "I'll just send this in to the station and they'll fix it up for me." This has been said to me several times in past two months and I think something should be done about it.

If people know they can fix tickets they are not apt to drive safely. A strict enforcement set-up with teeth in it is badly needed.

How many people in this city would be willing to take a ticket? I would suggest that all citizens of Edmonton read the article entitled "Old you ever have a ticket fixed?" in the September issue of the Women's Home Companion. It certainly made me think and I'm certain the people of Edmonton would benefit by it.

War Spurs Labrador Rail Plans

A war in far-off Korea has hastened construction of a railroad into the Labrador wilderness.

That's because the rail line will lead into rich iron ore country, badly needed for the production of war material.

Plans had called for starting construction on the railway next Spring. But now it will be begun this fall. Supplies for the big project will be taken from the United States, southern terminus of the line.

Seven islands in the St. Lawrence river, frozen over during the winter, No supplies are being shipped now, while they can. Later, equipment will be flown to Seven Islands.

Drivers Assailed

Editor, Bulletin—May I be permitted to voice a strong protest against the swinish conduct of so many drivers who are driving in the city?

On my way to see a sick child, and passing the Highlands on Jasper exit, I encountered a procession of cars refusing to pass, and a line of cars in the rear.

I presume, from the race track I wanted to turn north on 38th street and moved over to the centre line and with my arm outstretched, signalled my intent, and came to a stop—as I was forced to.

But would one single driver slow down and allow me to get by? Not a chance! They came on in an endless stream about 8-10 feet apart, not very fast, but not slow enough to let me pass.

How about this, Mr. Editor? I would suggest that all citizens of Edmonton read the article entitled "Old you ever have a ticket fixed?" in the September issue of the Women's Home Companion. It certainly made me think and I'm certain the people of Edmonton would benefit by it.

Jack Scott Beauty, Solitude In North Ontario

(Columnist Jack Scott is on a cross-Canada tour with his family in automobile and trailer—EDITORIAL.)

NORTH BAY, Ont.—Here on the sandy shore of Lake Nipissing, we have our largest campsite yet.

We arrived last night after a 400-mile drive. It was a black night and we had no idea of what a choice location the site of North Bay's civic trailer park had assigned to our family.

"All the way from British Columbia," he said, "in that case I'll have to find something special." He directed us toward the shore from the orderly rows of caravans with their lights twinkling down. "Take off that way," he announced, pointing into the darkness, and left us.

Like Waikiki

We awoke this morning to find that we were not at North Bay at all, but on the beach at Waikiki.

I am writing on the card table now, out under the awning, and the view from here is very Hawaiian. There's a tidy patch of green grass at our doorstep and there are small private beach with sand and clouds and fine sea.

Two large willow trees leaning at a sharp angle out over the water, and looking down at the view, like coconut trees, frame the view. The blue, ruffled lake stretches off into a sunset glow, and a tiny arch on the shore.

A great many tourists who have never seen this sight, and I am against it. We seriously considered two alternatives. One was to get out and make a dash for it to South St. Marie. No drive in this, because they don't like to see a person in a car.

We also considered the alternative of driving the big lake through Wisconsin, but that would have meant abandoning the all-Canadian route.

Another Columnist

Then, in Port Arthur, we crossed paths with Austin Cross, columnist of the Ottawa Citizen, who is out looking over Canada from east to west. Austin was enthusiastic about the view that we saw, and we decided to do in two long hours.

Let us set ourselves this goal because we've got to get a move on if we intend to complete our tour before the end of the year. Last night on the radio we heard of front reports in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

During our drive we saw many maps getting their first autumn

blush. Here in North Bay there's the shore of Lake Nipissing, and the air.

For this reason we decided we'd better make a dash for it to South St. Marie. No drive in this, because they don't like to see a person in a car.

We also considered the alternative of driving the big lake through Wisconsin, but that would have meant abandoning the all-Canadian route.

Another Columnist

Then, in Port Arthur, we crossed paths with Austin Cross, columnist of the Ottawa Citizen, who is out looking over Canada from east to west. Austin was enthusiastic about the view that we saw, and we decided to do in two long hours.

Let us set ourselves this goal because we've got to get a move on if we intend to complete our tour before the end of the year. Last night on the radio we heard of front reports in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

During our drive we saw many maps getting their first autumn

blush. Here in North Bay there's the shore of Lake Nipissing, and the air.

For this reason we decided we'd better make a dash for it to South St. Marie. No drive in this, because they don't like to see a person in a car.

We also considered the alternative of driving the big lake through Wisconsin, but that would have meant abandoning the all-Canadian route.

Like Waikiki

We awoke this morning to find that we were not at North Bay at all, but on the beach at Waikiki.

I am writing on the card table now, out under the awning, and the view from here is very Hawaiian. There's a tidy patch of green grass at our doorstep and there are small private beach with sand and clouds and fine sea.

Two large willow trees leaning at a sharp angle out over the water, and looking down at the view, like coconut trees, frame the view. The blue, ruffled lake stretches off into a sunset glow, and a tiny arch on the shore.

A great many tourists who have never seen this sight, and I am against it. We seriously considered two alternatives. One was to get out and make a dash for it to South St. Marie. No drive in this, because they don't like to see a person in a car.

BUT AUSSIES ARE CHAMPS

Americans Salvage One Davis Cup Match

PORT ST. LUCIA, N.Y., Aug. 28.—(AP)—A magnificent rally by Tom Brown, Jr., of San Francisco, spared the United States the ignominy of a shutout in the Davis Cup matches yesterday after the new world tennis champions had come within a single set of making it unanimous.

With a crowd of 11,000 cheering him on as he lifted his erratic game to its heights, the young lawyer came back to down the 21-year-old Australian prodigy, Ken McGregor, by the marathon scores of 6-11, 6-10, 11-6, 6-1, 6-2 in a three-hour thriller.

The Australians clinched the international trophy Saturday when, before more than 11,000 fans, John Bromwich and Frank Sedgman won a tiding five-set victory over Ted Schroeder and Gardner Mulley in the doubles. The scores were 4-6, 6-4, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4, and it was a hum-dinger of a struggle.

Winnipeg pitcher was Marie Hawkey who went all the way for Ryan's squad and looked best in the final stages of the game. Once his club got back in the running, Hawkey shot the door on the Canadians, allowing them only one safety the rest of the way.

It was catcher Ross Kortgard's seventh-inning home run that broke a 5-7 tie.

In 9-7 Win

CALGARY, Aug. 28.—(CP)—Edmonton Dodgers came from behind a seven-run deficit Saturday night to earn a 9-7 decision in the hard war and square their big Four National league semifinal with Calgary Buffaloes at two games apiece.

Fifth game in the best-of-seven series will be played here tonight.

Leading 7-1 going into the sixth inning Saturday, the Californians blew wide open along with their pitcher, right-hander Gordon McGuarrie, who had served them well to that point.

Winning pitcher was Marie Hawkey who went all the way for Ryan's squad and looked best in the final stages of the game. Once his club got back in the running, Hawkey shot the door on the Canadians, allowing them only one safety the rest of the way.

It was catcher Ross Kortgard's seventh-inning home run that broke a 5-7 tie.

Henrich, DiMaggio Deliver As Yanks Near Top Spot

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(UPI)—The New York Yankees, harboring pennant plans of their own, moved to within one game of first place in the American league by edging the Chicago White Sox 2 to 1, yesterday in 10 innings.

Tenney Henrich's pinch single in the 10th and Allie Reynolds' two-hit pitching paced the Yankees to their third straight victory.

With one out in the 10th, Joe DiMaggio singled, his third hit of the game. Hank Bauer's single then moved DiMaggio to third whereupon Joe Collins was purloined to fill the bases. Henrich batted for Bobby Brown and stroked a pitch to deep right field for the winning run.

TIGERS SPLIT

Detroit's league-leading Tigers dropped a 4 to 3 decision to the Philadelphia Athletics but salvaged a split by winning the second game, 3 to 1, as Art Houtteman won his 17th out.

Clyde Verner's pinch-hit grand slam homer following three Indian errors in the seventh inning, helped the Boston Red Sox to a 3 to 2 victory over Cleveland.

Washington split a twin-bill with St. Louis the Senators winning the opener 8 to 0, and the Browns taking the finale, 11 to 10, in 10 innings.

In the National league, Cardinals snapped Brooklyn's 10-game winning streak with a 13 to 5 victory. Clyde Brierly muffed the Dodger bats with eight hits while his teammates collected 14, including homers by Stan Musial, Tommy Glaviano and Bill Howerdin.

PHILS STILL WIN

Boston Braves climbed within three games of the second place Dodgers by beating Pittsburgh twice, 7 to 3 in 12 innings and 4 to 1 by Hartford of the Braves.

1 to 1 by Hartford of the Braves led the opener with a ninth-inning homer and homers by Sid Gordon and Buddy Kerr gave Boston its 10th victory in a row.

CHICAGO—Northwestern won the Big Ten tennis championship last year, the only equal to win it four years in a row.

Woodcock Seeks Bat Cancellation

LONDON, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Bruce Woodcock, British heavyweight title, Saturday asked to get out of Nov. 14 bout with Joey Maxim, the world light-heavyweight champion from Cleveland.

In making his request, Woodcock revealed that he had signed for such a fight. The bout was made before Woodcock was stopped in four rounds by Les Savard last June.

New the British boxing board of control wants Woodcock to defend his British crown against Jack Gardner by Nov. 15.

Premier Jack Solomons said he would call Maxim to learn whether some other fight could be arranged.

Westlock Wins North Crown

WESTLOCK, August 28.—Westlock won the northern Alberta Senior B baseball title yesterday, splitting a doubleheader with Wetaskiwin.

Wetaskiwin won the first game 3-2 but the home club bounced back with a 7-5 conquest in the nightcap. Westlock won the first two games of the best-of-five series last week.

Kenauk hurled the Wetaskiwin pitcher while Bernier was the winning Westlock pitcher in the second game.

Monday Meanderings

Let's all go on strike against Monday morning.

Here's the story of Edmonton's bravest picketer: CNR baggageman Jerry Hill was transferred from Jasper to Edmonton just before the strike. Jerry made arrangements to ship his furniture here before he left. He rented a nice suite here and was all set to move in with his family.

The Hill furniture arrived the same day as the strike. Now Jerry is picketing his own furniture in the CNR yards.

Making amends time: Mrs. K. R. Williams who is proud of her little baby girl who out at eye tooth at nine weeks, says the baby hasn't got 54 great aunts. What the baby really has is 15 great aunts and 14 great uncles.

In a previous item I wrote the Williams baby had 54 great uncles. Looks like I'm in for some rants from some aunts.

I'd sure like to hear old No. 2 whistling for that 121 street crossing.

Traffic tremor: Art Dory, building superintendent at Dominion Bank tells me this one:

Employees of the west end branch of the Bank in the 104 street block of Jasper avenue got sick of seeing one lone car in their parking lot each morning and each night that didn't belong to any bank worker.

So last Wednesday night Art Dory and another chap showed it off the lot. A policeman asked them what they were about.

They told him. The cop looked at the license number and then at his note book.

The car had been reported stolen two weeks before. It was speedily restored to the owner, an employee of the courthouse.

After helping to solve this stolen car mystery, naturally Mr. Dory was a bit put out when his reward proved to be a parking ticket for leaving his own car in front of the Motor Vehicle Bureau at 1:05 a.m.

City regulations prohibit parking there after 1:00 a.m.

Insult to "injury" item: I was crossing Jasper Avenue Saturday afternoon between those nice white "saferly" lines. A big truck runs out doing about 40 mph.

I didn't stop and I didn't run. Didn't see why I should between those white lines.

As the truck passed by the driver shouted: "You want to get yourself killed, you . . ."

When are city police officers going to see to about this safety lane business?

Are Ginkams taking a hand in the strike?

It looked that way at 8 a.m. Saturday when the wig was signal at the CNR 121 street crossing came to life. The bell rang like mad and the arm waved frantically. As a result, city-bound motorists stopped and waited for the train. Naturally it didn't come. A short circuit is believed responsible.

A very goodnight to all and especially to people who are stranded far from home.

Rail Strike May Delay Trans-Canada Highway

Construction work on the trans-Canada highway will be further delayed if all railway strike continues.

Main highway reconstruction will be delayed as all materials come in by rail, says M. W. Winters, director of special projects for the department of resources and development headed by Hon. R. H. Winters.

ROUTINE TOUR

Mr. Winters, who arrived in the city by air Saturday from his tour of a routine inspection tour of trans-Canada highway construction.

Contractors awarded this year by the federal government included 100 million and the majority of the work is expected to be completed on schedule, he said.

Main highway reconstruction Alberta this year is from Stirlinghouse to Bassano, where the road is being graded, widened and blacktopped.

SNAKE RIVER PROJECT

The Snake River project development project at Yellowknife, which comes under his department, is making good progress and work is in the stages and is 1.26 feet high.

REPORTS FROM atmosphere are recorded by special radio. Weather maps are made daily at 40,000 foot level in preparation for jet air travel. Meteorologist assistant L. G. Morrison interprets readings. Stratosphere winds sometimes blow 300 miles an hour.

Jet-Like 'River of Air' Found By Weather Men

By STANLEY BURKE

The "Wild Blue Yonder" is more than a song writer's catch phrase—it's an accurate description of that cold and little known realm ten miles high.

Just above the troposphere, a little group of men are quietly engaged in daily observation of weather conditions in the stratosphere. And what they are finding is helping to change the entire scientific concept of the upper air.

Until recently, meteorologists and airlines assumed that the stratosphere was a region of cold, perpetual calm, explained D. H. Smith, district meteorologist. However, they now believe the opposite—a world of never-ending air currents.

CLOCKED AT 300

These blasts—known as the jet stream—flow over the top of the atmosphere at 300 miles an hour. In some places they have been clocked at 300.

The upper air investigations are followed with intense interest by Canadian airlines who soon expect to operate jet transport at 30,000 feet and higher.

"You can describe this jet stream as a meandering river of air," explained Smith.

"These narrow bands of wind are not constant in direction or in velocity. Usually, however, they travel in an easterly direction. For eastbound jets, it's likely to be a 'downstream' and white water all the way." "But it promises to be tough paddling on the way back."

"Our job will be to supply them with accurate high level weather information. In particular, we will try to supply them with information on the jet stream—how to either ride it or avoid it, as the case may be."

CAUSE UNKNOWN

Case of those high level hurricanes is not known. Meteorologists are puzzled from the meteorological point of view. It is believed that the cause is a combination of factors, including the jet stream, the sun, and the moon.

One of the most recent examples of this phenomenon was a high level hurricane that struck the Pacific coast of North America last week. It was a high level hurricane, and it was a high level hurricane.

Being pushed as rapidly as possible, it said.

Mr. Winters left Saturday afternoon for his Calgary assignment. He will be back in Edmonton on Sunday.

Huks Reported Ready to Strike

MANILA, Aug. 28 (AP)—Guards might Manila last night as the city was hit by a typhoon. The typhoon was a typhoon, and it was a typhoon.

Italian Stowaways Held In Cells

MONTREAL, Aug. 28 (AP)—Italian stowaways are being held in cells in Montreal. They are being held in cells, and they are being held in cells.

ALBERTA SENDS TWO TO FOUR H MEETING

Only Canadian representatives attending the Four H State annual conference in Bowman, Manitoba, today are two from Alberta.

Leslie Ulmer, 26-year-old assistant supervisor youth agriculture clubs and youth training for the provincial government, left Edmonton Saturday for the six-day conference.

Joining him in Bowman will be Ruth Murray, district home economist for Western Canada.

Ulmer graduated in agriculture from University of Alberta in 1949. He was accompanied by four active members of the province's junior farm and home clubs, who are going as guests.

Edmonton Seen Lucky For Position In Strike

Edmonton's fortunate position in relation to other western cities in a rail strike becomes more apparent as Canada's crippling tie-up enters its second week.

Proximity to abundant coal and natural gas supplies relieves the city of power blackouts, as well as shortages, and resultant widespread unemployment and considerable serious shortage of food, threatened other prairie cities.

Saskatoon, even with power consumption cut in half by voluntary and forced rationing of electricity, has power plant coal supplies only for another week.

Prompted of trucking in rail supplies from the Drumheller valley is reported still, and another week of strike will bring the Saskatchewan city's economy to a virtual standstill.

Regina's power plant is dangerously short of coal, but coal could be trucked from the Eastern fields at a price.

Prince Albert, Saskatchewan's most southerly city, faces the same prospect as Saskatoon, with the power plant coal dwindling fast.

Edmonton, however, has the three Saskatchewan cities, their water supplies will also fail, since the waterworks systems are not powered on electricity for pumping.

50,000 IHC Workers Out

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP)—Nearly 50,000 workers at International Harvester Company plants through out the United States were on strike today.

The farm equipment division of the United States Harvester Co. Inc. yesterday ordered its 25,000 members on strike in 11 plants.

The strike cut brought the big equipment manufacturing firm's operations to a standstill. Eight other Harvester plants have been shut down since Thursday by a strike called by the United Auto Workers (UAW), who expect 20,000 workers.

Star Loses Jewels

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jewelry stolen by film actor John Lennon and valued at $250,000 was reported missing yesterday. The loss was reported by the manager of the Hotel Sheraton, New York.

New York and California police are looking for the jewelry.

PASSENGERS FIRST

Two Days Will Be Needed To Restore Rail Traffic

Passenger trains will be rolling on schedule within hours after the national rail strike ends. Operations will be back to normal within two days.

J. P. Cooper, Canadian National Railway divisional superintendent, said that the 40,000 rail workers will be allowed for various classes of freight.

The main thing will be to get freight moving on rapidly to passenger service. "We'll have a lot of freight cars in the yards, but we'll get them moving."

Bea Gives Back-Pat To Life Loving Oldst's

By Bea Thrifty

When I saw a trio of dear old darlings parading out to tea today I thought "No... the day has passed when granny dressed suitably in lavender and lace... spent her time with the photograph album and her memories of yesterday."

Now granny steps out in fabulous fashions, trim of figure and modern-minded.

"Gone are the days when women figured that at 50 they were old."

Constitutionally "figgured," unbecomingly to behold; "Gone the era when they fancied they had passed their greatest hour."

Like the butter that is rancid and the elder that is sour.

Bless my soul, she's now invading ground where damsels in their teens

Seek, by publicly parading, to be classed as beauty queens.

Yes, in pulchritude's arenas, Grandma now her flag unfurls

And may soon be seen as Canada's Queen of Pin-Up girls.

Yes, 'tis true indeed and I can't say I disapprove. For too long, our grandmothers and grandfathers have been considered "worthy of the shelf" as far as enjoying life is concerned.

Now they whip around in motor-cars, airplanes, loving the pace and the warm-over excitement of living.

Lavender 'n' lace has a warm place in our hearts... but so has the older who defies the years and proceeds to get a hang out of the day-to-day process of life.

I'm thinking particularly of one 78-year old girl who's just bought herself a new car. And she's making a solo trip to Banff, Jasper.

She said she's tired of having her children and grandchildren treat her like a piece of fine, old crystal.

"I've lived a lot longer than they have and I bet I know a whole lot more, too... in spite of what some of them think."

"One of my sons never could admit decently... and if he thinks he can tick me away in a shawl and a basket of knitting he's mistaken. As long as I can spell better than he can I think I'm entitled to make a few decisions of my own."

And I'm getting a good, healthy eye-opening out of her "no-nonsense" attitude. I intend to remember it when and if my grand-children-to-be try to tick me away on the old-age shelf.

Child Entitled To His Right as an Individual

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Both fathers and mothers may be guilty of treating a child as if it were their possession.

"My child needs five" were the words of a mother. Mrs. E. P. has no children but she has a husband who has a child. No one else has.

"He refuses to let our child alone" are the words of a mother who has a child. No one else has.

He should know that children learn to get along with other children by the experience they get in play. It is a great deal better to let the child play with other children than to let him be isolated.

It is a luxury for the child that she is a member of a family. She should be able to share the company of children and to be certain, even with the permission, to get some play experience with them.

Our little boy, 28, on "The Day He Had From Mother and No. 2" on "How To Be a Good Father" may be said to be a good father. He addressed, signed envelope with your request for him to Myrtle Eldred in care of this newspaper.

WHY GROW OLD

Slim Waist Great Factor In Keeping Youthful

By Josephine Lowman

If you had to have some figure faults and could choose between these various handicaps, or if you had the right to select one perfect measurement, you would be wise to ask for a very slim waist.

Your waist is near you can carry quite a lot of weight in the hip measurement is indicated in that it is if you know which ones to do. This exercise is helpful. Stand tall with your feet comfortably separated. Bend your left elbow and place your left hand behind your head. Hold it in this position as you bend to the right, trying to touch the right hand to the floor.

If you cannot bend over that far at first, go down as far as you can. Raise your trunk and bend right elbow and place your right hand behind your head and bend to the left. Continue, alternating.

Do not do this too rapidly. Feel the pull and straighten the body completely between bends.

THIS BENDING exercise will help you keep that slim waist which does so much for your figure.

United Nations' Force, Supplies Being Readied

By Dayton Moore

Sentinel To The Bulletin
WASHINGTON, Aug. 28—(AP)—Troops and supplies are being built up rapidly in Korea for the inevitable counterpunch by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's United Nations forces.

Most of the specific information on the building is secret; it would help the enemy Communists.

But defence officials indicated the flow of men and supplies to Korea is satisfactory and "just about according to schedule."

Officials would not say when enough troops, munitions and other war supplies would be delivered for MacArthur to launch an all-out counteroffensive. Some observers speculated it might be within two months.

COMBAT PLANES
Informed sources said MacArthur already had been given even more combat planes than he had asked for. Additional army and marine ground troops are being sent.

Additional navy ships are being added to the more than 150 already there. Some smaller naval craft are being given to the South Koreans.

Army units being dispatched to Korea now probably are mainly battalions and companies of artillery, engineers, supply and signal corps forces.

Present indications are that no more divisions will be sent to Korea.

INFANTRY GROUPS
The army now has all or "substantial" parts of four infantry divisions at the battlefield. They are the 2nd, 24th, 25th and 1st cavalry (infantry). Smaller army combat units there include the 75th regimental combat team.

Trade Tightening Sought By U.S.

War-Potential Goods Said Leaking Out to Communists

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28—(AP)—The United States has decided to try to tighten up the system of trade controls by which strategic materials are supposed to be kept from Russia.

State and commerce department officials concede that important war-potential goods have been leaking out to the Communist countries through loopholes.

Some American experts on economic policy say that what the United States is faced with is economic warfare with the Communist countries.

PREVENT RUSSIANS

Others contend the question is simpler, being concerned solely with preventing the Russians from getting American or Western European goods which would aid them in a military sense.

The whole matter was reviewed by President Truman's top policy-making agency, the National Security Council, last Thursday.

Belgian sources who cannot be named said the government then decided that steps must be taken to prevent the loss of important materials now going through to the Russians.

The first important move along this line is expected to be taken by State Secretary Dean Acheson when he meets with Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain and Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France in New York, Sept. 12.

SAME PROBLEM

On another phase of the same problem, former prime minister Winston Churchill declared in a political speech in Britain Saturday that a British factory has been turning out tools suitable for the repair of tanks for the Russians.

But in London, British overseas trade secretary said Russia is not getting any strategic war materials from British firms.

Secretary Arthur Bottomley made the statement in reply to charges by Churchill, saying:

"What has happened is that we have had essential supplies from Russia in the shape of grain and timber, and in return we have had to make payment.

OUTSIDE CATEGORY
"The goods supplied by Britain, while covering a wide range, have been outside the category of those necessary for building up war potential."

J. H. Greenwood, chairman and managing director of Craven Brothers, said that his company is finishing the first part of a large Soviet order and will continue fulfilling the order "in increasing quantities until 1951."

He said his firm has been doing business with Russia for 20 years "but under the present circumstances, we have to ask ourselves whether we are doing the right thing."

"That question I have been putting to the government for over two years, . . . but I could get nowhere with the government."

Supreme Peril Still In Europe

But Tibet, Iran Attacks Next
Says Churchill On Radio

WESTERHAM, Kent, Eng., Aug. 28.—(CP)—Winston Churchill, in a country-wide broadcast speech Saturday night, said the Communists may soon attack Tibet and Iran but that "the supreme peril" threatening the world is in Europe.

The danger in Europe is closer than that in Korea and is "an incomparably larger scale," Britain's wartime prime minister said in a political speech from his country home here.

It was "a melancholy thought" that nothing preserve Europe from overwhelming military attack except the devastating resources of the United States in the atomic bomb.

Churchill said the only way to deal with Russia is by having superior strength in one form or another, and then by acting with reason and fairness. This is the plan of the battle for peace, and the only plan which has chance of success.

He pledged the Conservative party to support all necessary defence measures taken by the Attlee government.

LABOR CHARGED
But he accused the government of "infringement and disconnection of thought and action in shaping defence plans."

As an example, Churchill said British factory is turning out tools for the Russians to use for the repair of tanks, and that Russian inspectors are admitted into the plant.

The supply ministry conceded that several British machine tool manufacturers are turning out products for Russia. At first visits by Russian inspectors, a ministry spokesman said this was true in all plants making tools for the Russians.

Fancy going on like this while everything is getting worse, and when we are literally begging the United States for aid in every form," Churchill exclaimed.

OFFICIAL REPLY
A spokesman for the Board of Trade said British supplies assist export control and has drawn up its own blacklist of strategic materials for shipment to Communist countries.

It sends such things as steel, electrical equipment and generators under a wartime act.

"Surely," Churchill argued, "orders should be given now to stop the export by any firm of machine tools, Diesel engines, and the like, to Soviet Russia. I trust Mr. Attlee will be able to tell us when he speaks next week that this, at any rate, has been done."

A supply ministry spokesman said: "A proportion of these orders

Ex-Member Of Cabinet Dies In East

MONTREAL, Aug. 28.—(CP)—Mr. Justice Pierre Francis Casgrain, of Montreal Superior Court, former Canadian secretary of state, died at his home Saturday.

The 64-year-old justice died after complaining of not feeling well Friday night.

Mr. Justice Casgrain, elected seven times to Liberal member of parliament from 1917 to 1940, was chief Liberal whip in the House of Commons in 1928. He was appointed secretary of state in the Mackenzie King government in 1940, succeeding the late Hon. Fernand Robit.

He was appointed to the superior court bench at Montreal in 1941.

Sir Justice Casgrain was born in Montreal Aug. 4, 1876, the son of Dr. Pierre Francis Casgrain. He was educated at St. Mary's College at Montreal and at Laval University, which he was graduated in law in 1900.

ELECTED IN 1917
After a few years of practice on his own, he joined the Montreal firm of McGillivray, Casgrain, Mitchell, Casgrain, McLaughlin and Stairs. He was made a King's Counsel in 1920.

He was first elected to the House of Commons for Charlevoix-Saguenay in 1917, and was re-elected again in 1921, 1925, 1929, 1930, 1935, and 1940.

His widow, the former Therese Forget, daughter of Sir Rodolphe Forget and Lady Forget, is prominent as a champion of women's rights.

Mr. Justice Casgrain leaves two sons, Rodolphe, an investment banker, Paul, a lawyer, and two daughters, Mrs. Bernard Parent-Ramond of Baie Comeau, Que., and Mrs. Jacques Nadeau of Montreal.

Funeral will be held in St. Louis Church, Westmount, Que., Tuesday.

Unthinkable
The water in Great Salt Lake is so dense it is impossible for a person to sink.

were covered under the Russian-Ribbentrop Agreement of 1940, and in return we got grain and other useful commodities."

BLIND-FOLD GAME in Korea is serious business. Captured North Korean is blindfolded, before being removed for questioning, so he won't see any US secrets. Cpl. William Butner (left), of Marshfield, Mo., guards him at S-Sgt. Robert Baldwin, of Reeds, Mo., guards him blindfold.

Claxton Lists Targets For Russ Atom Bomb

Two Swimmers From Egypt Awarded Cash

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Aug. 28.—(AP)—The Egyptian government yesterday awarded $2,000 (21,250) each to the Egyptian swimmers who came first and third in the Daily Mail's English Channel race Tuesday.

The money went to Hassan Abdel-Rahim, the bronze Egyptian army lieutenant who established a record for the swim by covering the 21 miles in 19 hours, 33 minutes.

The same prize went to Marek Hassan Hamed, who came third. Hamed, already has received $2,800 prize from the London newspaper and Hamad $700.

Life Stretches By Half Year
NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(AP)—American wage earners and their families gained a half-year of life expectancy in 1940, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company announced Saturday.

The company said a survey among millions of industrial policyholders showed that life expectancy in that group rose to a high of 67.7 years.

Mr. Claxton said such an attack would have one and possibly two obvious objectives.

The first would be to strike at some vital point such as the locks at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. The second would be to put the economy into putting a disproportionate amount of effort into defence.

St. Laurent Announces Governors

OTTAWA, Aug. 28.—(CP)—Appointment of the new governors for three of Canada's provinces were announced Saturday by Prime Minister St. Laurent, A.C. in effect Oct. 1.

T. W. L. Proulx, became lieutenant-governor of Prince Edward Island. Hon. Gaudet Faneux of Quebec and Clarence Wallace of British Columbia.

Mr. Proulx, a former member of the provincial legislature and leading Charlottetown business man, succeeds Joseph A. Berthelme, who has held the office five years. A former mayor of Charlottetown and member of the legislature for two years, he is 62.

Mr. Faneux, 55, succeeds Sir Thomas Foster who, at 75, has been lieutenant-governor of Quebec since 1930.

CREATES VACANCY
Mr. Faneux, a former member of the Quebec legislature, a dentist and veteran of the First World War, entered the House of Commons in 1940 when he represented Montreal St. Mary. He was speaker of the house from 1945 to 1949 and is a member of the Privy Council.

His appointment will create a vacancy in the house.

The appointment in British Columbia fills a vacancy created by the resignation of Charles A. Banks, 63, who was appointed in 1948. Mr. Wallace is a leading industrialist of Vancouver.

Eleventh Burglary One Too Many
NICE, France, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Police announced last night that a fourth burglary had occurred in the theft of 200,000 francs (about $70,000) in jewels from the house of Mrs. Norman Winston near Cannes Aug. 26.

Part of the gains have been recovered. They said the new prize was a diamond ring, and a diamond bracelet, and a diamond necklace.

Twelve Injured In Train Crash
ELMIIRA, Mich., Aug. 28.—(AP)—A Pennsylvania railroad passenger train collided head-on with a freight train near here Saturday, injuring 12 persons. Eight were taken to hospital.

Four cars on the freight train were derailed while two sets of wheels on the passenger engine went off the track.

Red General Dies
MOSCOW, Aug. 28.—(AP)—The army newspaper Red Star reported the death of Lt.-Gen. Nikolai Matveyev Tyshkovskiy, a tank specialist. The report said he died at the age of 58 after a long illness.

SHOOTIN' MAD TENANT SHOTS

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Police and Nicola Montemagno, 48, emptied his revolver Saturday at his landlord, Jules Foster, 25, because he refused to have the furniture shackled. Foster, with bullet wounds in the shoulder, stomach and chest, is in serious condition in hospital.

25-Year-Old Wins Title
PENNINGTON, Ore., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Young Chester Webster of Klamath, Ore., was named the 1950 all-around cowboy champion of the big Pennington round-up today.

It was a repeat win for the 25-year-old Oklahoman, the first time in the long history of the rodeo that the $2,000 Ross Saddle trophy has gone to the previous year's champ.

Webster had piled up points in consistently good performances during the four days of rough rodeo in the carnival. Yesterday he won the calf riding finals with 31.5 seconds performance for three animals that took 2 N.M. with a time of 1:18.3 minutes for three animals.

Bulgaria Behind Guerrilla Trouble
LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Aug. 28.—(AP)—A United Nations committee yesterday blamed Albania and Bulgaria, especially Bulgaria, for Greece's continuing trouble with armed guerrillas.

War threats to Greece have been increased by some guerrillas still active inside Greece, and thousands fled across the borders to the north and menace the Greeks, the special committee on the Balkans said in a report prepared for the UN general assembly opening Sept. 19.

Congress Studies Soviet Expansion
WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(AP)—The Soviet Union has expanded about 43,000 square miles since 1939, a Congressional study released Saturday showed. Its territory rose to 8,500,000 square miles.

Acquisitions included Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, as well as parts of Poland and Finland.

Auto Pioneer Dies
LANSING, Mich., Aug. 28.—(AP)—R. E. Olds, 84-year-old automotive pioneer who developed the "Motor Division" and later the Buick motor car, died Saturday of the complications of old age.

Little Fanfare Attached To Parliament Opening

OTTAWA, Aug. 28.—(CP)—Parliament's members moved into Ottawa Saturday for an emergency session under conditions they have never before experienced.

They came for the special meeting called by Prime Minister St. Laurent to consider the situation created by the national strike of railway and telegraph workers.

They also will give judgment on Canada's participation in the Korean war. The session will open at 2 p.m. EDT, Tuesday.

Parliament would have been summoned in any case to deal with the war issue, but probably not until late in September.

This home-coming of the parliamentarians was unprecedented because the law-makers were forced to travel by plane or motor car because of the paralysis of rail transportation.

Their families called gave them a grim welcome because the festive home-away-from-home for most of them, the Chateau Laurier hotel, was air-raided. It is a Canadian National Railways hotel. It was expected that the formalities of opening would be kept to a minimum with all the traditions observed.

One Dead In Blast
CAMBRIA, Italy, Aug. 28.—(Reuters)—An explosion rocked the big Matteotti chemical works here Saturday, killing one worker and injuring six others. Two buildings collapsed.
